(By Russell Kay, Editorial Director Florida News Service).

TAMPA, April 20.—(FNS)—Never in the state's history has a general election year found voters as apathetic. Despite all efforts of candidates, the everyday citizen remains indifferent to their appeals, refuses to come out in any number to hear speakers and to a large degree is keeping his thoughts to himself.

Purple Heart For Pahokee Youth

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Ross of Pahokee received this week from the Navy the Purple Heart Medal and certificate for their son, Harold Eugene Ross, fireman 3-c USN who died from wounds received in the Battle of the Coral Sea.

that the son was reported missing on May 8, 1942 and in June 1943 word was received from Frank Knox, Secretary of Navy, that he had died of wounds received in action.

Harold Eugene Ross' was 21 years old at the time of his death. He graduated from Pine Knot High School, Kentucky, in 1933 and came to Pahoehoe in 1933 where he made his home until he joined the Navy on Oct. 9, 1941. After receiving training at the Norfolk Naval Base, he was assigned to active duty on a destroyer on Dec. 13, 1941.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Ross.

Nelson, California; Mrs. Mildred White, Ohio; Mrs. Doria Nahalka, Houston, Texas; Miss Imogene Ross and Miss Wilma Ross, Pahoehoe.

Buys Fire Truck

The Pahokee City Council at a meeting in the city hall last Fri-

The city has been attempting since the spring of 1942 to purchase this equipment which is badly needed by the fire department.

At that time the council voted to purchase the same type of equipment from the same company but the deal fell through on account of priorities difficulty. At this time, however, the city has been granted definite priority for the equipment and delivery has been promised within 60 to 120 days. A part of the cost of the new engine, amounting to approximately $2,000, has been contributed by residents living in the vicinity of Pabokkee but outside the city limits who will receive fire fighting service with the addition of this new equipment to the fire

CAN'T EAT EMERALDS

Charles MacArthur, Helen Hayes' playwright-husband turned United States army major, who first attracted her by offering her peanuts, with a heartfelt wish that they "were emeralds," set her an envelope full of emeralds from Burma. Wrote MacArthur: "I wish they were peanuts."—Kansas City Star.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE

"I don't believe any two words in the English dictionary are synonymous."
"Oh, I don't know. What the matter with 'raise' and 'lift'?"

"There's a great difference. I 'raise' chickens, and have a neighbor who has been known to 'lift' them."—Sheffield (England) Weekly Telegraph.

IT'S A GAMBLE

A group of big oil men in Washington were telling hard luck stories one evening about government taxation.

"There is no telling where we will land by the time the tax bill is settled," said one. "Our status is as uncertain as that of an old negro slave I once heard of. Somebody asked him whom he belonged to. 'I don't know, sah,' he replied. 'Ole Marsah, he's upstairs playing pokah.'"—Santa Fe Magazine.

MILITARY SECRECY

The chief reason for wartime censorship is to keep information, aid and comfort from the enemy. Yet Brendan Bracken, British minister of information, has announced that the test of leaflets dropped over Germany, written for and read by enemy soldiers and civilians, will not be released for publication.

Is allied propaganda so full of whoppers that the public can't be trusted to read it? You figure it out.—NEA Editorial.

We ran across a lad who is going to get along all right in this world. Taunted by someone because of an inordinate number of freckles on his face, he replied goodnaturedly:

"They ain't freckles. Y'see, we been goin' swimmin' 'most every day, and them spots is just my iron constitution rustin' on me!"—Cleveland News.

Russian doctors, who are successfully treating wounds with an onion juice dressing, have found that the eating of onions or garlic kills, for a short time, all the bacteria in the mouth.

That's a handy thing to know. But our recent shopping excursions have demonstrated that it's pretty hard to get enough so that we may "always keep a little in the house—just for medical purposes, of course."—NEA Editorial.

Two advance scouts of Gen. Montgomery's eighth army became separated one night crawling over a hilltop near Ortona, Italy. They were close to the German lines when one heard the other coming through the brush to his right. But he wasn't sure if it was a friend or foe. He cooked a hand grenade and was ready to throw it when he heard a voice ask, "I say, old boy, are you British?"

"Right," he answered.

"That's a pity," the voice answered. "You make a splendid target."—Roger Beirne in Parade.

At a certain state institution for the mentally muddled, they were testing inmates awhile back, and got the query: "Which would you rather have—$10 or $10,000?"

"I'll take the $10," replied a "guest" promptly. "I couldn't pay the tax on $10,000."

They let him out; he was cured.—Moore Haven Democrat.

Speaking before a gathering of police chiefs at the FBI National Police Academy recently, Dr. Arthur L. Beeley, Dean of the University of Utah School of Social Work said members should not be blamed for juvenile delinquency.

The learned doctor whose school is designed to incubate "trained, experienced social workers" drooled a lot of other nonsense, advancing a doctrine so dangerous and destructive as to cause every sane, right thinking person in the Nation to view his talk with genuine alarm.

According to Beeley, home influence doesn't amount to much as far as bringing up the child is concerned. He says, "We have been clinging to false stereotypes too long, that we ought to realize that the role of the home has shrunk" and "the family has less influence over the child than at any other time."

He ventrally absolves parents of any responsibility for the training and upbringing of their offspring and contends that they are not qualified for such a task, advocating that this duty of moulding character and personality be turned over to the schools and social agencies.

He condemns parents for the desire on their part to shield the child and states that "parents with Puritan sex ideas" conflict with their children whose opinions on the subject are "sophisticated."

Well, maybe the doctor is right and maybe I'm old fashioned or nuts or something but I have always held the crazy idea that the strength of this or any other Nation rests in its homes and its families. There may be some parents in this country who would welcome being entirely relieved of the responsibility of training and bringing up their children and they would be content having by government some task taken over by government agencies, but I don't believe the majority of us feel that way about it.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war stories I like best, Judge, are the ones by the special writers overseas who live right with our troops. They give us a better idea of how our men react to things going on over there and back here at home."

"I agree with you, Sam. I never miss one of those stories in the papers or magazines. And there's one thing these writers seem to agree on no matter where they are stationed with our men...and that is that the men who have left their homes and families to go away and fight this war don't want to come back and find that prohibition has been put over on them while they were away...either nationally or locally. They have heard about the attempts being made and they resent it bitterly."

"I agree with them, Judge, even though I don't happen to drink myself. Furthermore, I don't think it's fair for us at home to be making any major changes while 10,000,000 of our fighting men are away and have no chance to express their opinions."

IS SENATOR PEPPER MORE INTERESTED IN "WAR PROFITEERS" THAN IN WINNING THE WAR?

THE HOUSE MILITARY AFFAIRS COMMITTEE OF THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES, SAYS:

In its report after investigation into the causes for the delay in the construction of Eglin Field, an Army air field at Valparaiso, Florida, and the air port at Pensacola, Florida, that it was caused by the successful fight of Senator Pepper to force the Government to buy the asphalt from the Pan American Petroleum Corporation represented by a law firm with which he once had connection, at a price much higher than the low bid. This was done says the committee by references made by Senator Pepper in a heated discussion with government officials concerned in the purchase "to the necessity of Senate confirmation" for their promotions.

The Committee concludes its report with the statement in reference to Senator Pepper "The Committee deprecates most strongly the fact that any members of Congress would exert sufficient influence, and that an established government agency would be so susceptible to such influence, as to cause unwarranted delay in the completion of a project so essential to the development of the national defense."

FOR HIS ACTIVITIES IN THE ASPHALT DEAL PEPPER IS CONDEMNED!

BY THE DEMOCRATS:

BY THE NATION

Senator Walter F. George, after refusing to recommend the purchase of asphalt from the Pan American Petroleum Corporation or anyone else, said: "I deplore political interference in government contracts."

BY THE REPUBLICANS:

Senator Tobey said in reference to Senator Pepper that the asphalt deal came up for discussion on the floor of the Senate. "With a high government official heads the drums for war which will result in huge profits to certain companies in the United States, and when that same high government official uses his high office by active intervention on behalf of a great oil company in the matter of the lowest bidder, the danger is that the people may believe that there is a connection between his appeal for intervention in the oil company deal."

The Washington Daily News has this to say editorially about this asphalt deal: "Yesterday an article by Thomas L. Stokes, concerning Senator Pepper and a rather sticky asphalt contract for an Army Air Corps field in Florida, precipitated more than an hour of lively debate in the U. S. Senate. Then all the remarks were 'expanding' from the record, because some of the things said seemed to reflect upon the motives of certain members of that august body."

"We wish here merely to say that this newspaper is not bound by the protocol of 'senatorial courtesy'. The facts we have published about the asphalt contract will not be 'expunged' from our columns. Our sentiments were expressed by an officer from the Army Corps of Engineers who, having looked into the facts by order of Assistant Secretary of War Patterson, commented: 'It stinks.'"

IS THIS THE REASON?

-- the "War Profiteers" are spending...
$250,000.00 in a desperate effort to re-elect Senator Claude Pepper?

Byrd Delegates Are Against FDR

JACKSONVILLE, April 20. (AP)—The national spotlight will be focused on Florida's Democratic Primaries next month for indication as to the trend of Southern voters toward or away from the present administration. Political observers express the belief that anti-Roosevelt forces may capture control of Florida's delegation to the Democratic convention through the election of delegates pledged to the support of Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia. Six of the candidates for delegates at large and 12 of the district aspirants are so pledged. Those for the state at large being H. C. Avery, Jacksonville; J. Mark Wilcox, Miami; Joe C. Jenkins, Gainesville; Mrs. E. P. B. Anthony, Miami; Mrs. O. M. (Florence) Carter, Milton; and Mrs. Joe H. Stokes, Perry.

Committee Gives OPA The Facts

ORLANDO, April 20. (AP)—Armed to the teeth with facts and figures about celery, tomatoes and lima beans, and prepared to show the OPA that proposed ceiling prices for these commodities are "unrealistic" and do not fit the actual facts of the situation, members of the Florida Vegetable Committee will confer with Washington officials this week.

Commenting on the situation spokesman for the committee pointed out that the prices proposed "fail to take into consideration many factors that affect the growers' situation" and cites the abandonment of 20 percent of the celery acreage as an example, but OPA leaves that factor out of its consideration although it is just as much a part of the growers' costs as if celery were available for the market.

The Florida Vegetable Committee which was organized a year ago through the efforts of L. I. Stuckey, of Phoenix, has been doing some very effective work in the interests of Florida truckers and vegetable growers. While it operates independently from the Florida Farm Bureau, the two organizations work closely in protesting the welfare of farmers and growers.

Cautioned Against Hot Check Artists

Merchants or banks which cash a check of any kind for an individual who has nothing more than a Social Security card to identify him, does so at his own risk. Joe P. Verri, Manager of the Social Security Board in West Palm Beach, Fla., said today he has come to my attention that certain people are trying to cash stolen or lost war allotment checks by using a Social Security Account number card as identification. Social Security cards are for the purpose of identifying the worker's wage record account and is not valid identification for any other purpose. The possession of a Social Security card is not an indication of the financial responsibility or identity of the individual who possesses it. From time to time, we have had requests for information that would help to identify or locate the holder of the Social Security Account card. The Social Security Board is forbidden by law to divulge any information regarding the identity or address of anyone in possession of a Social Security Card.

Instead of encouraging to pay less attention to their children, we should be doing all in our power to safeguard the home and strengthen the family ties to the end that the home will be preserved.

If we in this Nation as the great doctor contends, have so deteriorated that the parents are no longer competent to train and care for their own children then we certainly are in a bad way. While here and there we may find parents who fail to measure up to this responsibility they are represented by the small majority, not the majority.

LIONS LETTER

April 18, 1944

Dear Lions In Service:-

I will take all of the blame for your letter just being in the paper last week.

On last Tuesday we did not meet as usual as we were going to have a joint meeting with the Belle Glade Lions and the remnants of the football teams of Pahokee and Belle Glade. I say remnants because several of the boys are now being to make a touch down in Berlin and Tokyo.

The purpose of this meeting was to present a beautiful cup to the winning team between Pahokee and Belle Glade. This cup was put up jointly between the two Lions Clubs. The cup to be held by the winner until the following year or until they fail to win the Glades Championship.

We had as our guest speaker the occasion, Coach Eddie Dunn of Miami University, and he also presented the cup to Coach Otten as the captain of the Pahokee team is now with Uncle Sam.

The meeting was held in the school cafeteria with Mrs. Byrd and her efficient assistants serving an excellent chicken dinner.

A group of coeds from the high school served the tables and they did a wonderful job.

As usual there was salt in the coffee as the Two Tail Twisters really went to work. The proceeds from the fines were given to the girls that served, and they justly deserved it.

After the meeting everybody went over to the school auditorium to see the picture entitled "High Lights of the Orange Bowl Games," which Coach Dunn brought with him.

So-long for this time boys, Rupert will be seeing you soon.

Sincerely,
Dave Cunningham.

Ed Hamilton Has Many Friends In U. S. Service

When Ed Hamilton, candidate for Representative of the 15th Congressional District, was home on furlough following "boot" camp at Parris Island, S. C., he spoke at the Boy Scouts Annual Father and Son Banquet, 1944, was chairman of the Honor Court at the time he entered the service, and a member of the District Boy Scout Committee.

He told them that a Marine is asked many times why he joined the Marine Corps, and that the correct answer, according to the book, is "To fight, Sir." That however in addition to it, a natural respect he had for the Corps, Ed added:

"My brother Lemmie is in the Army, and my brother D. D., Jr., is in the Navy. I also have young friends from the Boy Scouts, from the Palm Beach County Athletic Association; from the Junior College; from the Boys Club; from the Junior Fishing Club, and from my church, who are in the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, and other military branches of the service. Boys that I have worked with and 'polled' with for many years. I don't want to show any partiality, but wanted to help them all, so I chose the United States Marine Corps."

Ed Hamilton paid his respects to the men and women in various branches of the service, and to those at home who are also doing their part.

President Roosevelt has definitely stated that service men may run for public office. In this case Ed Hamilton will have seen 15 months of actual service in the Marines when elected as representative of the New South Congressional District.

This definitely is a case of the officer seeking the man and not the man seeking the office. Hence Ed's friends are staging this campaign for him. He is not here now to be seen to make any record of his behalf.

Ed Baker Believes His Program To Be Sound Thinking

JACKSONVILLE, April 20.—Pointing out the similarity of platforms of the several gubernatorial candidates, Senator Ed Baker of Duval, himself a candidate, declared here that "the only important thing to be considered by the voters is the choice of man to administer programs every sound-thinking Floridian knows must be carried out."

Baker, a state civic and fraternal leader who until January was for 10 years, superintendent of the Harry-Anna Crippled Children's Home, is scheduled to speak Friday night at Courthouse Square, Tampa, and to spend the week with appearances in six public county cities Saturday.

He said Baker asked:

"Will you nominate a man whose thoughts and energies have been largely directed in the political or legal field, in furthering his own personal or political ambitions?"

"Or," Baker asked, "will you nominate a layman who has not selfishly developed himself, as well as economic resources; a man who has administered public funds faithfully and who has rendered public services in the civic field?"

"I tell Florida voters," Baker declared, "that political trickery and legal knowledge alone will not supply the answers to Florida's future problems. This is no time for tricks and the legal knowledge needed by Florida's governor is supplied by an official state agency. This answer must come from a man with common sense, ability, understanding and an unselfish heart. I believe I am that man," Baker concluded.

How To Get Truck Parts Is Outlined

Hundreds of broken down trucks and buses are lying idle throughout the southeast because their owners and many small garage-men have not yet learned how to go about getting the critical parts needed for their repair, the Office of Defense Transportation and the War Production Board reported yesterday.

In a joint statement, district offices of the two federal agencies pointed out that despite war time scarcities, parts are now available to keep essential vehicles in operation.

However, many small truck operators, including a large number of farmers, have not yet learned how to go about getting the needed parts.

Here are the rules listed by E. R. Rowland, ODT District Manager in Tampa, and Tampa WPB District Manager, Herbert A. Brennan for the guidance of garage-men, parts dealers and owners of essential vehicles:

1. Do not attempt to get a needed part if the old part can be repaired or recommissioned by local repair facilities.

2. If the old part cannot easily be recommissioned or repaired, contact all local and nearby parts distribution jobbers, dealers and used parts dealers.

3. If the part cannot be located, then have a dealer, jobber, or parts distributor fill out a WPB "Certificate for Emergency Repair Order" and forward it along with his order to the manufacturer of the part. This WPB order will receive factory priority over all stock orders and delivery will usually be made within two weeks.

Sometimes, however, the needed part has gone out of production or other circumstances prevent the order being immediately filled. In such event, operators of commercial motor equipment may then:

4. Appeal to the Maintenance Specialist at the nearest District Office of the Office of Defense Transportation. Through in duplicate system set up for searching for exactly needed parts, the ODT can usually locate the needed part within several days. If the district office is unable to locate the part, it will forward the request to the ODT regional office, which will, in co-operation with the War Production Board, take steps to expedite delivery from the factory.

However, the ODT points out, ODT service is strictly an emergency measure and will be made available only after other attempts to locate the part have failed. This service is for essential commercial vehicles only and not for privately owned passenger automobiles.

There's no time out on the fighting front!

WE can't take time out from buying WAB BONKS!

This is a 24-hour-a-day, 7-days-a-week war. If our men are not out of here and into a war, they are in the memory of their country. We need keep them equipped for the job they are trained to do. Some of us can do that as the production line. All of us can help by buying War Bonds.

Yesterday's War Bonds supplied the firepower which thrust the tide on the world's battlefronts. The War Bonds we buy today and tomorrow will lead the enemies over the precipice of defeat... but thinking about it isn't enough... we must do it by buying War Bonds.

REMEMBER

OWN OWN PROTECTING MEN AND DEFENDING OUR LIFE

FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT COMPANY

Can You Picture FLORIDA without Schools?

Florida's youngest generation is hard at its wartime job of learning to be good and useful citizens. We've all come to think of a good education for our children as the natural birthright of young Americans—but building up and administering a school system as fine as Florida's is a gigantic task. Hundreds of thousands of students are enrolled each year in Florida's schools and colleges. There are 2,949 primary and secondary schools and 13 colleges and universities. The range of studies runs from kindergarten games through the three "R's" to the most advanced scientific and sociological research. Thousands of teachers are devoting their lives to this work—and to them goes much of the credit for its success, as well as to the administrators of each institution, to local and county school boards, and to the Florida State Board of Education. We of the Florida Motor Lines take the same pride as all other Floridians in our State's educational achievement. We know that our own organization is aiding the school system both with tax support and transportation service. Those of us whose children are benefiting directly from the splendid schooling afforded them feel doubly proud. In wartime even more than in peacetime, the things that draw us all together, that unify our efforts, that make us good neighbors in every sense, are the things that count most heavily. Both good education and good transportation have decisive parts to play in shaping the present as well as the future of Florida in the post-war world.

HERE'S ONE BIG REASON WHY TELEPHONES ARE SCARCE

It's THE NEW 45,000-ton U. S. S. Missouri, most powerful fighting ship afloat. It will carry about 1200 telephones, 350 miles of telephone wire, and a ship-wide battle announcing system.

Remember that Uncle Sam launched 568 warships last year and as new war fronts are opened and present ones extended, the Army and Navy's telephone equipment needs grow in volume and urgency.

Normally, we have reserve telephone facilities. But since the National Defense program started in 1940, the number of Southern Bell telephones in service has increased by more than half a million. The reserves are about used up.

There's a waiting list now—and we're doing everything possible to keep that list from getting longer.

For example, telephone instruments and other equipment that can be reused are being repaired and renovated and put back into service.

If you haven't been able to get a telephone, we're sorry. And you can be sure that we are eager to fill your order as soon as we can.

Caldwell Rally Is Planned For Tallahassee

TALLAHASSEE, April 20.—(Special) — Preparations have been made by the people of the Capital City for the Homecoming rally Friday for Edward Caldwell, Tallahassee citizen recognized as a leading contender in the race for governor of Florida.

Noted for its wealth of flowers, the city and suburban garden have contributed thousands of blossoms, which the women are using in decorating the hotel where during the afternoon 21-and Mrs. Caldwell will greet and thank their home friends and offer for their encouragement and for their encouragement in his political race. More flowers are ready for decorating the stage and bandstand where he will deliver his Homecoming address Friday night.

Set features of the program include an afternoon reception, a radio address and the big rally at the bank park at 8:30. Arrangements have been made by members of the Leon County Caldwell for-Governor club of which Jack Simmons is president.

This event will cause Caldwell to pause only a few hours from his campaign tour. On the way from Jacksonville Friday he will speak at Lake City, Lake Oake and Madison. Saturday morning at 9:30 he will visit Havana, stopping at Quincy, Chattahoochee, Chipley, Graceville, Marianna, Redway, DeFuniak Springs, Crestview, Milton (his old home town), arriving in Pensacola at 8:00 o'clock Saturday evening for a rally in the historic Plaza.

Graham Spreads Post-War Plans Thruout State

MELBOURNE, April 20. With well over 100,000 persons registered in his home county of Dade, Sen. Ernest R. Graham, candidate for governor, was working up the east coast, spreading his message that post war prosperity for all Florida depends on united cooperation throughout the state.

Emphasizing his ABC program of more visitors through advertising, agricultural development to serve the built-up tourist market and work reserves, such as a long range reforestation program, Senator Graham urged election of a governor whose experience and background qualifies him to direct Florida post-war activities along suitable business lines.

"There is no problem in Florida impossible of solution," he said, "but you must have a practical, sensible man at the helm of state government to guide the development of sensible plans for Florida's future."

The fairer-business man again stressed that $50,000,000 for necessities of life in Florida, now are being sent to other states, despite the fact that such necessities now are available or really made available here in Florida. He said he referred to meats, poultry, vegetables, milk and dairy products.

"It just doesn't make sense to send such money out of the state when our own agricultural counties need this business and can supply the demand. We can accomplish our aims if we think deeply and plan sensibly. The opportunities are here. It merely remains for us to be alive to them."

Stuckey stated here this week he is finding that business men in the urban sections are thoroughly cognizant of the importance of agricultural development in South Florida. Speaking before a large civic group at Hollywood last night, he found his audience intensely interested, and eager to assist in post-war plans for the re-oval development of the Sixth District.

"I have watched, and helped, South Florida grow for the past thirty-three years," said Candidate Stuckey, "a Godgiven climate and an aggressive, civic minded citizenry has created for us a gigantic winter resort industry. We must keep this great industry going through every means at our disposal. Now we are also famous as an agricultural area, he continued, "and foresighted planning and sensible application should include a co-ordination of all interests, urban and rural, in the District."

Hospital Corps In Navy Needs Many Capable Women

"To keep as many men out as many guns as many days as possible" is the mission charged to the Medical Department of the Navy. The Hospital Corps, an integral part of the Medical Department of the Navy, was created by an Act of Congress, approved June 17, 1898, and is one of the oldest corps at present in the United States Navy. It is not surprising, therefore, that with the creation of the Wave Corps a great deal of attention because of women's natural aptitude, has been directed to the Medical Department.

The first Hospital Corps School for Waves was commissioned on January 12 of this year at the National Naval Medical Center, at Bethesda, Md. The new school consists of three buildings. Two are barracks and the central building houses the administrative offices, the class rooms and a model ward.

The curriculum of the Bethesda school for Waves is substantially the same as for the men and covers such subjects as anatomy, physiology, first aid and minor surgery, hygiene and sanitation, nursing, metrology, and pharmacology. Upon completion of the course the women will receive three weeks of additional training in the wards of Naval hospitals before they may be granted ratings up to pharmacist's mate.

second class, depending upon their ability and experience. Waves selected to go to the Naval hospitals at St. Albans, N. Y. or at San Diego, Cal. will be those who are specially qualified in the theory, technique, and the like.

The fame of the Navy's Hospital Corps is legion. Their heroism under fire which has accounted for the saving of many American lives has won the admiration of the military in the Pacific as well as the European battle theaters. Many of these hospital corpsmen administering the wounded at the scene of battle received their assignments through replacement Waves at naval shore stations. Already there are over 6000 Waves on Medical duty at naval hospitals and bases throughout the country.

The Navy, recognizing the valuable performance of its Wave hospital corpsmen has indicated its intention to intensify the program in this department. Women accepted for this branch of the service must show an aptitude for this type of work. Only Waves expressing a desire for the Hospital Corps may apply, must be suitably assigned. This may be done after their basic training at Hunter College, New York which is the indoctrination point for all enlisted women who enter Naval service. It is from this point that women, in addition to those choosing the Hospital Corps, are sent to specialized schools all over the country to prepare them for navy assignments. These include courses in jeppetography, stenography, meteorology, aviation mechanics, control tower, light training, parachute signaling, coding and bakers, post office work, etc.

Women, desiring more information about all branches of the Wave Corps are invited to apply at the Navy Recruiting Station, Post Office Building, West Palm Beach, or to the officially appointed Volunteer recruiter, Marion Bloech, Pahokee.

America's first woman mayor was Mrs. Susanna Kinsey Salter now of Norman, Oklahoma, who was elected at Argonia, Kansas in 1857.

Upchurch Would Build Sounder Future For State

HOMESTEAD, April 20.—Emphasizing that "forty billion dollars is a fair estimate of the budget in the national debt as a result of the misunderstanding of post-war readjustment, after World War No. 1," Frank D. Upchurch, candidate for governor, declared, "We cannot as a nation or as a state withstand the same type of mistakes again."

Upchurch said he proposed to call an emergency conference, when he becomes governor, the real leaders of government and private enterprise to plan a sound future for Florida in which there will be equality of opportunity for all, without endeavor.

"I have no magic formula which will enable me by a wave of a hand to establish a cure-all for unemployment or depression. Instead, I intend to offer opportunity to the real makers of Florida, one from every section of this state, to aid me in setting up post-war plans which will enable us to avoid the pitfalls which plunged us into our present chaos after World War No. 1," Upchurch asserted.

"Florida is still an agricultural state, but it is also rapidly becoming an industrial state and it will continue to grow along these lines. We need the proper encouragement to those who would aid us in building new opportunity for Florida, not only for Florida capital, and for the youth of this state," Upchurch said.

Huge sums of money which have accumulated in the state treasury for the building of roads and highways, because of wartime shortages of manpower and materials, will be expended in fair and just proportions in every section of Florida, Upchurch pledged during his talk.

"In these modern times," he added, "good roads are essential to every section of Florida and our building program must and will be planned accordingly, when I am governor," Upchurch said.
